HARRY ELLIS: A lovely little boy

SHARE A HEART FOR HARRY

THIS week the Star is calling on its thousands of readers to remember the life of a "lovely little boy" who would have celebrated his birthday this weekend.

Harry Ellis, a Year 2 pupil at Latton Green Primary School, died last month after being diagnosed with a rare type of brain tumour. He would have been seven on Sunday.

To mark his birthday, a group of more than 50 parents from all over the UK and Ireland who have children born in August 2007 have organised a Hearts for Harry celebration of the youngster's life.

Harry's parents - Matthew and Jennifer - are asking people from across the world to take a photo of a love heart on Sunday and upload it to social media website Facebook using the hashtag #heartsforHarry and including the location.

Jennifer, 32, said: "His birthday is going to be really painful for us. It is so unnatural that he was born on August 24 and yet he isn't here."

"As a parent it is incomprehensible, the worst thing that could happen. The pain is so intense; it is an actual physical pain."

"However, our friends, family and everyone taking part in #heartsforHarry means that something positive and loving is going to happen on his birthday."

"It means it won't just be about his absence but about the love he brought with him the day he was born and it is being spread across the whole world.

"It will also create much-needed awareness of childhood brain tumours. It will shock people to know that they are almost as common as leukaemia in children."

Marianne Looby, 26, from Orpington in Kent, is part of the group behind the Hearts for Harry event. She said: "We couldn't let Harry's birthday pass us by without doing something to show Jen and Matt how many people were affected by him."

"We'd post about him on our Facebook page and our friends would comment and want to show their sympathies too. Even their friends would do the same."

"We thought we could share Harry's hearts, a term that was used throughout his battle, in reference to all those that followed him and his story."

"We all met online eight years ago when we were pregnant with our August 2007ers. Our group is very diverse, from doctors to barristers, stay-at-home mums to jewellery designers. We are based all over the UK and Ireland and come from all walks of life. In honesty we'd never have become friends if it wasn't for our babies."

"There are 53 of us in our group and we had discussed what we should do to mark Harry's birthday. We knew we didn't want to just light candles; as lovely as that would be it wouldn't reflect Harry or his birthday."

Hearts for Harry has gained more than 3,000 likes in the two days since it was created with people from all over the world getting involved.

"Even the Red Arrows have done a heart," said Ms Looby. "It's much bigger than anyone anticipated and it just keeps growing. Anyone can join in and sharing is what it is all about."

Jennifer added: "Thank you to everyone taking part and celebrating Harry's life with us on what would have been his seventh birthday. You are all amazing people and it's going to be the most beautiful, inspiring thing to see."

"He was a lovely little boy with a sense of humour beyond his years and an amazing strength of character. He is desperately missed but will live on in our hearts forever."

To get involved, search for Hearts for Harry - Worldwide on Facebook. Take a photo of a love heart and upload it on Sunday. All posts need to be made public and use the hashtag #heartsforHarry and include the location of the love heart.

Hunky Davood's ready to 'spice up' EastEnders

AN actor from Harlow has landed the biggest role of his career so far after joining the cast of top BBC soap EastEnders.

Davood Ghadami, who has already started filming on the Elstree set, will play the role of Khoroush 'Kush' Kazemi, a character described by the show's executive producer Dominic Treadwell-Collins as a "leading man to spice up the market".

Mr Ghadami is no stranger to the screen, having already appeared in a number of popular television series including Taggart, Doctor Who, Top Boy, Silent Witness, Spooks and Casualty.

He has also done a variety of theatre and film work.

"I'm so excited to be joining the cast of EastEnders" he told reporters. "I've been a fan of the show for as long as I can remember."

"It's surreal to get to work with these actors that I've spent so many evenings watching on television."

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Mr Treadwell-Collins said: "Davood's a brilliant actor and a proper gentleman. We've had Kush in our minds for a while now – a new leading man to spice up the market and set some female hearts fluttering."

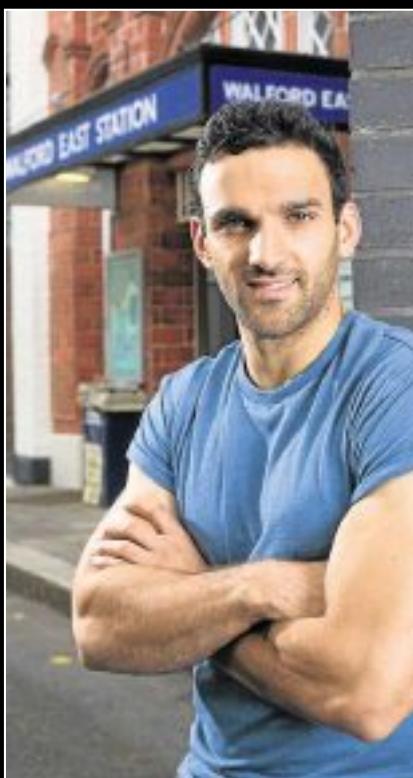

"And it won't be long before he has one Walford woman firmly in his sights."

Mr Ghadami's father Mo, who owns a number of properties in and around Harlow, said he was very proud of his son.

"He has been acting for around 10 years and has been in a lot of things," he said.

"Everybody is really excited and we are all very proud of him. It is good news. He is a good boy, very down-to-Earth and a real gentleman."

Davood's character is due to make his first appearance on the nation's TV screens in the autumn.

Man jailed for sexual activity with girl of 14

A MAN who shared a bed with two young girls and engaged in sexual activity with one of them when she was only 14 has been jailed for nine months.

Thomas Lacey, 22, of Collins Meadow, Harlow, was also placed on the sex offenders register for 10 years by judge Anthony Goldstaub, who told him: "You've let your family and yourself down badly and undoubtedly damaged your victim."

In addition to the jail sentence Lacey was banned for making contact with either of the girls for three years.

He pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to two charges of sexual activity with a 14-year-old girl in September 2012 in a house where he was staying overnight.

Stephen Rose, prosecuting, said the victim had described Lacey as being like an older brother but said that he had groped her.

John Fairhead, representing Lacey, said in mitigation: "He was 20 and he was mixing with girls four or five years younger than him. Being looked up to by them was an ego boost."

Describing him at the time as immature rather than wicked, Mr Fairhead continued: "He's got a good family background and a very good work record. He was 20; it's an age when boys are frequently immature."

Toddler in stable condition after ice cream van accident

A TODDLER who suffered potentially life-threatening injuries in an accident with an ice cream van is in a stable condition in hospital.

Police were called to Northbrooks, Harlow, shortly before 5.30pm on Monday following reports of a collision involving the 22-month-old boy. He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital and then transferred to Addenbrookes Hospital at Cambridge where his condition was at first described as critical.

But as the Star went to press yesterday afternoon (Wednesday) hospital authorities said his condition had stabilised.

READERS LETTERS

Can anyone help us to research war records?

SIR The First World War names on the Potter Street war memorial include two Wheelers - Walter, who was the the subject of your recent feature, and Reginald.

Reginald was one of four sons of another Wheeler family living in Latton Street. The other sons were James, William and Edward and all four served in the First World War. All survived apart from Reginald.

Recently the Museum of Harlow received a donation from a relative of Edward Wheeler, the youngest of the brothers, of a collection of his memorabilia. It includes photographs of all four brothers and some information about Reginald - particularly a memorial card of his burial at St Mary-at-Latton in 1919. His is one of three war graves in the churchyard.

Edward's war record is of being wounded twice and then taken prisoner at Ypres in 1918, finally being repatriated from Germany in 1919.

As a museum volunteer I have been working on Edward's memorabilia with a view to having some of it ready for a proposed exhibition, hopefully by November.

We intend later to research the war records of the other brothers and possibly also the family background, but all this will take some time particularly as we have only one volunteer doing the work.

Some help would be greatly appreciated.

Majority of patients got to see GP within a week

SIR So 18 per cent of the people who wanted a GP appointment couldn't get one within a week (Star, August 7). That means that 82 per cent did get such an appointment.

Might it just be the case that those 82 per cent were the urgent ones, maybe even used by the elderly or the vulnerable within the community?

Of course it's possible that if someone (and surely not the surgeries because they could never get it right, could they?) had to prioritise the available appointments on the grounds of urgency, some people would have to wait longer than a week.

So come on Suzy Stride, let's be positive about this. Save that £100m, appreciate the fact that the majority of the people got their appointments and accept the fact that sometimes we just have to wait!

journalists Jason Cowley (editor of the New Statesman) and Andy Lines (chief reporter of the Daily Mirror) - spoke with humour and affection for their years in Harlow and of their support for the advice service which has given this town so much in professional advice over many years.

It continues to do so despite the ill-treatment by Harlow Council which removed it from the Advice Centre building which now lies empty and useless.

Harlow Advice Centre now operates from the office upstairs in the library and can be reached on (01279) 704002. They are there with the Harlow Credit Union.

Wouldn't it be a great move by Harlow Council to now include information about the new advice service in all its publications?

Street lights campaign is gathering momentum

SIR The 'Turn Our Street Lights Back On' campaign is gaining momentum throughout Essex.

As a county councillor I was a major proponent of this campaign at the last meeting when I seconded the motion to get the lights back on.

This was only narrowly defeated by the Conservative administration at County Hall, with all three major opposition parties voting to turn the lights back on although the Green Party councillors abstained.

Harlow Council will continue to maintain the pressure on Essex when it debates a resolution to get the lights turned back on at its September meeting. The Labour group hopes to get all-party backing to protest to the county council that we need our lights on for safety, for reassurance and to combat nighttime crime.

There is also an online petition that people can sign which will trigger further debate in council chambers. Whether the Conservative Party like it or not, this is an issue that will not go away until they relent and simply turn our street lights back on.

There's no excuse for people dropping litter

SIR Is it not a fact that an empty beer weighs less than a full beer can? Then why is it from purchasing said beverage and walking to a park bench consuming the contents there are people who must lose all upper body strength which prevents them carrying their empty cans home or putting them in the nearest litter bin?

Is leaving their rubbish in public places their way of giving the finger to society and not caring about anything or anyone?

They are not alone. Walk in any park, cycle track or open space and you will see litter dropped by people of all ages and from all walks of life. It seems to me that it is more socially acceptable these days to drop litter than to pick it up.

Recently I was behind a car in which there were two adults and three teenagers. We stopped at lights and these people opened their windows and chucked fish and chip wrappers out onto the road. What a great example to our youth!

I know if anyone reads this letter they will say that it's not just Harlow that has the problem of littering and there are worse places to live, but that does not mean it's not a problem in Harlow.

Burglary victim punched in face and robbed

POLICE investigating an assault on a householder who was punched in the face and robbed when he answered a knock at the front door of his home are linking it to an attempted burglary at another property an hour earlier.

The attack in Long Banks, Harlow, took place at about 5pm on Thursday, July 31. Two men - one of them holding a crowbar - knocked on the door of the house and when the homeowner answered he was struck in the face and a gold pendant grabbed from his neck.

The victim sustained a bruised lip and cuts to his nose and mouth.

The two men ran off and got into a dark coloured vehicle. One of the suspects was wearing light clothing and a black balaclava.

An hour earlier burglars broke into a house in Burley Hill by smashing a window in the rear door of the property. However, once inside they were disturbed and fled without taking anything.

One of the suspects is described as a white man in his mid-20s, of medium build and 5ft 6in tall. He was wearing a grey hooded top and had a luminous yellow scarf around his face.

Detective Constable Gav Morris, of Harlow CID, said: "These were two nasty burglaries which have left the homeowners greatly distressed.

"I am keen to apprehend these suspects as soon as possible. In particular I want to hear from anyone who saw this dark coloured vehicle driving erratically in Harlow on the day in question, especially in either Long Banks or Burley Hill."

Anyone with information about either incident should call DC Morris at Harlow CID on 101 or ring Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Amy weaves her loom band magic to help orphans

A SIX-year-old is putting her skill at making loom bands to good use by raising money for a children's home in Nepal.

Amy Sheppard, a pupil at Tany's Dell School, decided to sell the bands after hearing about the Kapila Valley Primary School and children's home.

It is part of BlinkNow, a not-for-profit organisation providing an education and home for orphaned, impoverished and at-risk children.

So far Amy, pictured above, has raised £20 by selling the colourful bands to her dad and his colleagues during a work barbecue and is currently busy creating more.

She will then send the proceeds as well as some of her best bands and loom band kits to the children helped by BlinkNow.

Mum Zoe, 28, of Orchard Croft, Harlow, said: "We are really proud of her for doing this."

"It was really random; she started making loom bands and then her dad's work had a barbecue and she decided to sell them there."

"My cousin - Daniel Furlong - does fundraising and helps the school and orphanage. Amy is aware of that and she just told me one day she wanted to sell loom bands to raise money for the children there and make some to send to them.

"It is amazing. I have not tried to push her too much and I'm just letting her get on with it. She is still trying to sell more of them and is making more to send over."

Amy said: "I'm making loom bands for the charity my cousin helps with. I'm going to make lots more to sell and send to the charity."

Zoe said that when Amy, who only turned six last month, told Daniel about her fundraising plans he was flabbergasted.

"He just could not believe it," she said. "He said she made his week and he has said when she's older he may take her there to meet the children which she is really up for."

To find out more about the Kapila Valley primary school and children's home and BlinkNow, visit www.blinknow.org.uk.

Knitters urged to help create field woollen poppies

KNITTERS are being encouraged to pick up their needles and create woollen poppies for a special display in the entrance of Harlow Civic Centre as part of the town commemoration to mark the centenary of the start of the First World War.

The community project was launched yesterday (Wednesday) with a 'knit in' at the Gibberd Gallery.

Harlow Council is asking the town's knitters to make poppies over a 12-week period in the run up to Remembrance Sunday.

People who cannot knit can still take part by creating crochet poppies or weaving them using loom bands.

The poppies will go on display in the entrance of the Civic Centre from Monday, October 20.

The project is being run by Harlow Council chairman councillor Ian Beckett and Harlow Art Trust.

"This will be great way to bring the community together to create something to help remember those who sacrificed their lives for us," said Cllr Beckett.

"Poppies are a symbol of remembrance of soldiers who have died during wartime and each poppy created will be gradually arranged in the entrance of the Civic Centre. It is hoped this will give a poignant impression of a field of poppies growing as the town approaches Remembrance Day."

At the end of the project the poppies will be donated to the Royal British Legion to raise funds for their work.

A SUMMER of uncertainty and nail-biting came to an end on Thursday for Harlow's A-level students who celebrated some impressive results.

For the third year in a row Harlow College secured a 100 per cent pass rate, with 58 per cent of students achieving passes at grades A*-B and 83 per cent gaining A*-C grades.

College principal Karen Spencer said she was very proud. "What a fantastic achievement for our students and recognition of their hard work and dedication," she said. "I am very proud of them."

"This year we have more students than ever progressing to university and also gaining prestigious places at top universities such as King's College London, Exeter, Leeds, Nottingham and the Royal Veterinary College."

"This also includes students progressing from our equally successful BTEC courses. A big thank you goes to everyone who has supported them, particularly our staff who are committed to helping them achieve bright futures."

Head of sixth form Tracy Greenall said: "This is the first year when A-level students have not been able to sit unit exams in January which has meant they have had many more exams in one sitting."

"These excellent results show just how well students and staff have prepared for this change. They are leaving us well equipped for university or employment and we wish them the very best for the future."

Matthew Lowe, 18, who achieved the grades he needed to study pharmacology at the University of Hertfordshire, said: "I think it was a lot harder and there was more pressure on everyone."

"I came to Harlow College from Leventhorpe so it was a massive jump but I really appreciate all the support I have been given from teachers here."

Yasmin Watkins, 18, who will be taking up a place to read history at Leeds University after gaining an A and 2Bs said: "I'm really happy. I checked this morning and I'm really pleased to see all the hard work after two years pay off."

Jasmine Lyall, 18, gained two A*s and a C and now plans to read sociology. "I am overwhelmed," she said. "Everyone at Harlow College is great and the teachers are wonderful. I did sociology as an A Level and it was a bit of a whim really, but it is one of the best choices of my life. I'm really looking forward to going to university."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said "Yet again Harlow College has had outstanding results."

"I congratulate the new principal, the staff and students. The college is helping to put Harlow on the map as the number one town in the east of England for skills and educational achievement and excellence."

Students at St Mark's West Essex Catholic School achieved a 99 per cent pass rate, with 60 per cent of students gaining A-C grades.

Star performers included Ana Bakalarczyk (2 As, 2 Bs) who will be studying social psychology and sociology at the University of Essex, Tasha Fry (1 A*, 1B and 1C), who will be reading philosophy and theology at St Mary's University College, James Mortimer (1 A*, 1A, 1B) who will be going to UEA to study English and creative writing, Hon Kit Lee (2 As, 2Cs) who will be reading civil engineering at the University of Surrey and Lauren Richards (1 A* and 2 Bs) who will be doing business studies at the University of Bournemouth.

Headteacher Elaine Heaphy said: "These are excellent results for this cohort, for their families and for Harlow."

"Our sixth form draws from all the other schools in Harlow and these results represent success for all the schools that have been involved in their education. I am especially pleased with the partnership work that we have undertaken and subjects that have been delivered by other schools have done exceptionally well."

Year 10 Burnt Mill Academy student Harry Grace gained an A grade in his AS-Level in mathematics. Headteacher Helena Mills described it as an "exceptional achievement".

Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth saw an improvement in the percentage of students gaining higher grades, with 61 per cent achieving at least two A*-B grades.

High achievers included Jack Bradbury (4 A*s, 1A) who has gained a place to study medicine at Cambridge, Georgina Shenton (2 A*s, 2 As) who will be reading English literature at Durham University, Daniel Smith (1 A*, 2 As) who will be going to Oxford to study history, Will Dyball (2 A*s, 1A, 1B) who will be studying business at the University of Sussex and Ruby Pease (1 A*, 2 As) who will take up her place reading psychology at York University.

Across Essex, more than 4,000 A-level students collected their results last week, with 77 per cent achieving three or more passes and 91 per cent gaining two or more passes.

Support group's fun day raises £7,300

A SUPPORT group for families of children with Down's Syndrome has raised more than £7,000 by holding a fun day in Harlow.

More than 1,000 people attended the event organised by Upwards with Downs and held at The Link, in Parsloe Road. There were about 60 stalls, inflatables and entertainment from bands, the Galaxy Cheerleaders and Dance 21.

Organisers Tara Bowers and Cristina Griffiths said they were overwhelmed by the success of the day.

"We raised a massive £7,287 with still more to come in," said Mrs Bowers. "It is a huge amount of money for a small group like us."

"Thank you to everyone who made it possible both on the day and also helping with the preparation. It was a team effort and everyone worked really hard."

"We have raised a lot but more importantly we have raised awareness of Down's Syndrome. If we can change just one person's perspective of the condition then we have accomplished what we set out to achieve."

To find out more about the group, visit www.upwardswithdowns.com.

Shoppers enjoy greyhound's visit

A CHARITY which rehomes retired racing greyhounds visited the Harvey Centre in Harlow to raise awareness of its work and promote ownership of the breed.

Barley Kennels in Waltham Abbey - the Harlow branch of the Retired Greyhound Trust - rehomes dogs when they stop racing.

Volunteer John Rogers, who has three greyhounds of his own and has been volunteering for nine years, said: "The Harvey Centre event was a success. We had Molly with us and she was very popular."

"Greyhounds make wonderful pets. Many people think they are a very active dog but they are called the 40mph coach potato. They only need two 20-minute walks a day and they love to relax and have a cuddle. They are naturally very calm animals."

He added: "We welcome anyone that is interested in giving a loving home to a greyhound."

Spurs legends set for golf fundraiser

Former Spurs footballers will be taking part in a charity golf day at the Hertfordshire Golf and Country Club in Broxbourne on Wednesday (August 27) for Help for Heroes.

Stephen Ratcliffe, 31, of Spinning Wheel Mead decided to host the event after his brother-in-law, a sergeant in the Parachute Regiment, witnessed "many tragic moments involving his best friends".

More than 40 golfers are taking part including nine Spurs legends. Stephen is hoping to raise up to £2,000 for the charity.

Scouts fun day

Nursery nurse to scale new heights for cancer charity

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NURSERY nurse from Harlow is preparing to climb to the top of the highest mountain in the British Isles to raise money for Breast Cancer Care.

Catherine Johnson, of Ty Green, has set herself a target of £500 for the cancer charity but is hoping to raise more.

She will be hosting a number of fundraising events including a strawberry tea at the Park Inn Hotel in Southern Way, Harlow, from 2-4pm on Sunday, August 31 before she tackles the ascent of Ben Nevis next month.

"Breast Cancer Care is an amazing charity," said 24-year-old Catherine, pictured right. "Most people, including myself, know at least one person who has experienced breast cancer."

"As well as supporting people affected, they also campaign for improvement in standards of support and care which I think is brilliant."

"When people are affected by breast cancer they are often not in a position to be able to fight for better support and care themselves, so the charity does it for them."

"The risk of developing breast cancer is one in eight. It's quite scary, I can think of seven friends and know that statistically one of us will get it. It's not a female-only disease either; it's rare in men but around 350 are diagnosed each year."

Catherine, who has signed up as an individual for the trek and has so far raised £200, added: "Ben Nevis is the highest mountain in the British Isles, I'd quite like to be able to say I've stood on the summit of that."

"I'm also lucky enough to be young and healthy, which is something to make the most of, and I've always wanted to do something challenging."

"With training I started off using the 'Couch to 5k' plan to build up my general fitness level and have been walking lots as well. I'm breaking in my walking boots and on the lookout for hills around Harlow."

"Out of everything I would say the hardest thing is just trying to find time to train. The last thing you feel like doing when you get home from work at night is going out training, but I've got to or I'll suffer more at 4,408ft."

Catherine will be arriving in Scotland on Friday, September 26 and is planning to climb Ben Nevis the following day. To sponsor her visit www.justgiving.com/bennevis2014.

Slimline Ritchie is a shadow of his former self

bianca.castro@hertssexnews.co.uk

A HOSPITAL administrator who has lost almost half his body weight narrowly missed out on winning the title Slimming World's Man of the Year.

Ritchie Parrott, of Moorfield, Harlow, has gone from 27st 7.5lbs to 15st 8lbs since joining a local Slimming World group in November 2012.

He said: "Men are usually in the minority and are the people that need the help to lose weight the most usually."

"I have always said women are very good at having their own network of support but guys do not tend to do that."

"But once I joined Slimming World and started losing weight, it was a fantastic feeling. There were four or five men in my group, all with success which encouraged me."

The 44-year-old made it to the final 10 of the Man of the Year competition but lost out to Brendan O'Donnell, 31.

As one of the finalists he met Sky Sports presenter Charlie Webster.

Ritchie, who works at Princess Alexandra Hospital, volunteered in the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games in London in 2012 and more recently volunteered for the Commonwealth Games.

Tipping the scales at 27st when volunteering at the London 2012 Games, he said: "I had a desk job for the Olympics and the Paralympics but the Commonwealth Games was different.

"They were amazing, it was a really fantastic experience and it was great to not feel inhibited by my size. It was just mind-blowing.

"I used to feel like I was living

BEFORE AND AFTER: Above, Ritchie as an Olympic Games volunteer in 2012 and, left, as he looks now life on the sidelines and now I feel happier, healthier and I can do more with my friends and family."

Donna Cecil-Smith, who runs the Harlow group which Ritchie attends, said: "Ritchie is almost unrecognisable from the man who walked into my group all those months ago but it's been quite a gradual change.

"He's shown that making small changes to the way you eat and becoming more active bit by bit can make a huge difference, and I hope he inspires lots of other men in Harlow who'd like to lose weight to go for it and join Slimming World.

"Everyone's welcome – men and women."

Project team seeking help with plans to create digital archive of county's historic interviews

EFFORTS are under way to make a treasure trove of recorded interviews from the Essex Sound and Video Archive available online.

However, the team behind the project must first get permission from the people being interviewed, or family members, in order for the material to be included.

If a grant application to the Heritage Lottery Fund is successful, the money will be used to digitalise and catalogue some of the archive's recordings.

They include teachers, a chimney sweep, a former Tiller Girl, farmworkers, a former police chief superintendent, a cinema organist, former mayors and domestic servants. Among those interviewed are people from Harlow and Epping.

County councillor John Jowers, cabinet member for libraries,

The list of recordings for Harlow includes:

- Mr Alderson and daughter Mrs Thompson
- Donald Anderson (estates officer for Harlow New Town Development Corporation)
- Sonia Anderson
- Ida May Bodkin (employed at Standard Telephone and Cable; husband a paint sprayer)
- Dave Bracy (owner of secondhand furniture shop)
- Mr and Mrs Jim Desormeaux
- Mr and Mrs Evans (owned shop selling light fittings)
- Vic Holden (manager of Sheratons)
- Joan Hurley (police sergeant)
- Minnie Johnson
- Alexander McCowan (architect)
- Mr Palmer and Mrs Olive Palmer
- Mrs Claire Simmons
- Mrs Summers (husband worked for Freddie Laker, Stansted)
- Violet Tolley (member of Women's Guild, Co-Op and Labour Party) communities and planning, said: "Some of the interviews we hold were collected many years ago so the accompanying paperwork authorising our use of the recordings is not always as complete as it should be.

"To help us get permission to use the interviews, we are calling for anyone who might feature in our collections or who knows any of our interviewees to get in touch. Any information, however vague, will be of help."

He added: "We hope that making these recordings accessible will allow people to gain a greater sense of place and pride in the county's rich heritage."

The list of interviews for which permission is needed can be viewed at www.essexrecordofficeblog.co.uk/you-are-hear/.

New warning over telephone scams

POLICE have repeated their warning about a telephone scam after receiving new reports of fraudsters claiming to be police officers in calls to people living in Essex and Cambridgeshire.

A woman calling herself Sarah and claiming to be based at Basildon police station made two calls to people who became suspicious and hung up on her.

It is believed the same woman also called a man in Cambridgeshire, telling him she was based with Essex Police and wanted to search his home as part of an investigation. The man ended the conversation and alerted police.

Police enquiries are continuing but at this stage they say they are not being linked to a series of telephone frauds in which victims have been tricked into handing over bank cards or large amounts of money.

Inspector Mark Rayner said: "All three calls were made on Wednesday, August 13 and fortunately all the people who received the calls hung up and contacted us.

"But we are concerned that there might have been other people who fell for the story and might have let a stranger or strangers into their homes. We urge everyone in the county to be vigilant if they are called by anyone claiming to be a police officer.

"If you do receive a call, hang up but try dialling 1471 to get the caller's number, make a note of the conversation and then call 101 to report the incident to Essex Police. If someone calls you then turns up at your doorstep, dial 999 immediately."

Artist David gives theatre a facelift

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PAIR of 20ft high tributes to two of the town's more famous residents have been unveiled in Harlow.

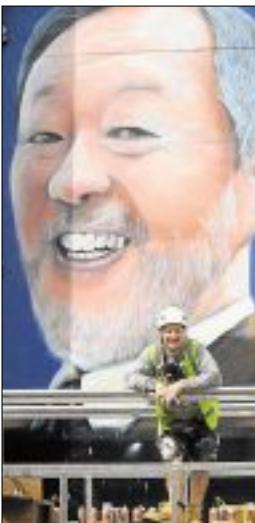

The murals of late comedian Rik Mayall and the inventor of fibre-optic cables Sir Charles Kao, 80, were painted by artist David Nash on the side of The Playhouse.

Mr Nash was given permission to paint the murals after seeking permission from Harlow Council.

The professional artist, who is known as Gnasher, offered to do the pieces for free in return for a contribution towards paint and a location for both murals.

Gnasher, 40, who grew up in Harlow, started spray painting in 1988 and stopped in 1993. He picked up the paints again in 2009 and has been creating street art ever since.

"I approached Harlow Council to do a mural as I thought it would be a fitting tribute since he was born in Harlow and the gift of social media helped make it a reality," he said.

"I know the Playhouse doors well and I knew what space I would have to work with so I talked to the theatre's director, Scott Ramsay, and gave him a few images of Rik Mayall and Sir Charles and we decided on the best one."

"I am quite chuffed with how they've turned out as I've never painted such a large face before. Everyone seems to be talking about it which is great. If people do not know about Rik Mayall and Sir Charles this may make them want to find out which is brilliant."

Cllr Emma Toal, portfolio holder for youth and community, said: "We felt if we could help recognise the joy he brought to so many people we should do something."

"The final result is absolutely stunning and a fitting tribute to a man who made millions laugh."

Rik Mayall, who starred in TV comedies The Young Ones, Catflap and Bottom, was born in Matching Tye. He died on June 9 this year.

Sir Charles Kao is one of two scientists credited with the invention of fibre-optic communications. The Nobel Prize winner made his discovery while working at telecoms firm STL in London Road during the 1980s.

'Incompetent' estate agent cheated clients to prop up business

AN estate agent who walked into a police station and confessed to defrauding his clients out of £180,000 over a period of years has been spared jail.

Instead, a judge at Chelmsford Crown Court placed Paul Stephen Onslow - who traded as Stephen Paul Estate Agents in The Stow, Harlow - on a six-month curfew and imposed a suspended prison sentence.

Onslow pleaded guilty to one offence of fraudulently abusing his position as the proprietor of an estate agency business in Harlow between April 22, 2008 and April 22, 2013 by using £43,736 of his clients' money for his own purposes.

The prosecution explained the charge was limited to a fraud against 14 landlords although Onslow had told police he estimated the total amount of money involved was £180,000.

The court was told Onslow "robbed Peter to pay Paul" to keep his business out of financial difficulties when the recession hit in 2008. His firm went from selling eight to 10 houses a month to none and he relied on his 40-50 letting clients.

Onslow looked after 89 rooms and 74 dwellings.

Samantha Lowther, prosecuting, said Onslow abused his position of trust in several ways. He failed to pay rent he had collected from tenants to landlords, he increased rents without informing landlords, he amended rental agreements and signed them on landlords' behalf without their knowledge, he changed the bank account tenants paid into and he obtained an additional £70 key deposit from tenants without landlords knowing.

COURT REPORTER

start@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Miss Lowther said one landlord discovered that Onslow had rented out all four bedrooms of one property to different tenants while another was unaware that rent was not being paid into his account until his bank told him in March last year that direct debits to his mortgage lender and other creditors had been returned unpaid.

Miss Lowther said that when the previously successful house-selling business experienced financial problems Onslow relied on rental properties.

At first he collected money at the beginning of the month and paid landlords at the end but as the business went downhill landlords were paid later.

Onslow, of Yewlands, Hoddesdon, told police: "It's not money I have hidden away. I was just robbing Peter to pay Paul so I haven't physically got it."

He started coming up with excuses not to pay, one of which was that he had a brain aneurysm.

Robert James, representing Onslow, said in mitigation he was "clearly not a competent businessman" and had not enjoyed an extravagant lifestyle.

"He didn't set out to defraud, he adopted a practice which was doomed to failure," said Mr James.

None of Onslow's clients or tenants had lodged a complaint with police, who were completely unaware of the fraud until Onslow confessed.

Imposing an 18-month prison sentence suspended for two years, 250 hours of unpaid work and a six-month electronically tagged curfew from 9pm-6am, judge Christopher Ball told Onslow it would be "significantly less harsh than being banged up in a prison cell".

He said Onslow, who was of previous good character, had avoided being sent to jail immediately because he had walked into Harlow police station in April last year to confess and had pleaded guilty to the charge.

"Rather than bow down to the inevitable because your area of work was devastated by the recession, you tried to trade your way out of it and in order to do that you deceived and cheated people entitled to money you were holding on to," the judge added.

Council contractor on board as a living wage employer

COUNCIL maintenance contractor Kier Harlow has been officially recognised as a living wage employer.

The company has followed in the footsteps of Harlow Council which gained the status in July last year and which is aiming to make Harlow a living wage town.

Workers receiving the living wage are currently paid £7.65 an hour compared to the national minimum wage of £6.31. The rate is set independently, updated annually and based on the cost of living in the UK.

John Phillips, Kier's regional operations director, said: "We are dedicated to providing the very best opportunities for our employees as well as investing in the communities in which we work.

"Our commitment to the living wage standard is just a small step in recognising the vital contribution our staff make to the local community and our company."

Council leader Jon Clempner said: "I am really pleased to see Kier Harlow has achieved this status. It takes us one step closer to achieving the council's aspiration of making Harlow a living wage town to ensure that low-paid staff are protected and looked after."

Former council leader Mark Wilkinson, who championed the cause for the authority to adopt the living wage, added: "Paying employees a living wage as a minimum is fair, increases equality and independence and has real benefits for employers and the local economy."

Harlow Advice Centre*The law regarding powers of a bailiff

THE rules about bailiffs are complicated and vary depending on the type of bailiff and debt. They also changed in April 2014. This article provides basic information on personal not business debts.

Courts and public authorities can use bailiffs as a way of getting you to pay what you owe. Bailiffs are only instructed if you fail to repay your creditors, normally after your case has been to court. They will threaten to take your possessions to persuade you to pay the debt, or take and sell things you own to repay your debt.

Normally, bailiffs can only visit between 6am and 9pm but you do not have to grant them access. Most bailiffs cannot use force or damage to enter your property, but they are allowed access through normal entrances such as an open door.

Bailiffs are, however, allowed to force entry to collect unpaid criminal fines, income tax or VAT. After a bailiff has gained access, they can re-enter without permission - using force if needed - with respect to the same debt. When seizing goods, the bailiff must leave the premises safe.

Bailiffs cannot seize items belonging to anyone other than the person on the distress warrant although jointly owned goods may be included.

For most debts, bailiffs cannot remove anything needed for basic domestic living including lighting, clothing, bedding and furniture or items on hire purchase or rented. Nor can they take anything required for use in employment or business. However, a bailiff collecting VAT and tax arrears may be able to.

The bailiff may remove items immediately but more commonly will make a controlled goods agreement where seized goods legally belong to the bailiff and can be removed at any time. As long as agreed repayments are made they will allow the goods to remain in the home.

Seized goods are sold at auction. The bailiff is legally bound to get a fair price, but the resale price of secondhand goods are a small fraction of the purchase price.

Debt collectors are not the same as bailiffs. Debt collectors cannot take any direct action against you apart from asking you to pay. High Court bailiffs, known as High Court Enforcement Officers, can only enforce certain types of debt.

The rules are complicated. If in doubt seek advice from a specialist advice agency such as Harlow Advice Centre.

Queen's letter of thanks for songwriter Harry's CD

AN amateur musician who has been writing and performing songs for more than 30 years has received a letter from Buckingham Palace after he sent the Queen a copy of his latest - and final - CD.

Harry James, of Sewell Harris Close, has spent the past 35 years composing songs for charity, raising money for a variety of good causes.

The 73-year-old, pictured left, said he would be displaying the letter, which is signed on headed notepaper by deputy correspondence co-ordinator Jennie Vine - on his wall.

"I have been writing songs for charity for 35 years," said Mr James. "I wrote to the Queen enclosing a copy of my CD but I wasn't really expecting a reply.

"I'm over the moon to have got the letter. I retired from songwriting about a month ago so this is really nice."

BIANCA CASTRObianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The CD compilation of 16 of Harry's 'greatest hits' included Crazy In Harlow, Harlow Girls and Harlow My Town.

He added: "The last charity song I did was for the Royal British Legion and that raised quite a bit of money. I am really proud."

The letter from Buckingham Palace reads: "The Queen has asked me to thank you for your letter of 7th July with which you enclosed a CD of the latest and last song you have written for charity.

"It was thoughtful of you to take the time and trouble to write and Her Majesty was grateful for the kind message of good wishes you sent for herself and her family."

Mr James also sent a copy of his CD to the Prince of Wales and the Duchess of Cornwall for which he received a letter of thanks.

Station protest over rail fare rise

MEMBERS of Harlow Trade Union Council staged a demonstration at Harlow Town station against the latest round of rail fare rises.

The protestors spent three hours on Tuesday morning handing hundreds of cards to commuters to highlight the increased rail fares.

Rail fares are set to rise by 3.5 per cent from January next year following the release of last month's inflation figures. The Retail Prices Index for July, which is used as the measure of inflation, was 2.5 per cent according to the Office for National Statistics. Rail fares will rise by that amount plus one per cent.

Harlow TUC secretary David Forman said: "Since 2008 fares have risen four times faster than average wages.

"In Europe, publicly owned railways have lower fares, are more efficient, and profits are reinvested back into the service. In Britain, publicly owned East Coast Main Line is a success story and in 2013/14 returned £216m to the UK Treasury. In the five years since 2009, East Coast has returned over £1bn to the UK Treasury."

Mr Forman added: "Regulated fares would have risen even more this year if the Government hadn't capitulated to public pressure to cap last year's rise to inflation only after several years of inflation-busting rises."

"With privatised rail services, we have the highest fares in Europe with profits extracted to pay shareholder dividends."

"Evidence shows that about £1.2bn per year is wasted due to privatisation and, if saved, this could fund an 18 per cent cut in fares."

Zoo's new arrival is turtley terrific

STAFF at a zoo in England are celebrating the birth of one of the world's rarest creatures.

The tiny six-week-old Vietnamese box turtle, which measures the size of a matchbox and weighs just half an ounce, was hatched after being kept at a constant temperature in an incubator at Bristol Zoo for 85 days.

The turtle, which is on the critically endangered list of animals, is so precious it is being kept in a climate-controlled quarantine room away from the public.

Tim Skelton, the zoo's curator of reptiles, said: "This is a very difficult species to breed so I am thrilled with the arrival of this baby. It comes after a lot of hard work.

"Little is known about this species so we can learn an awful lot from this baby to improve our chances of breeding more in the future. They are secretive animals so we are keeping it in a warm, humid and quiet room with a constant temperature to replicate its natural habitat where it can burrow among the soil and leaves."

Bristol Zoo is believed to be only the second zoo in Europe to have bred the species.

When the baby turtle grows up it will weigh just over a kilo and measure eight inches long.

Vietnamese box turtles can live for up to 50 years.

demonstration by Tiny Artist, a temporary graffiti wall and smoking cessation and weight management counselling from Anglia Community Enterprises.

Police community support officers were also on hand to security mark equipment and members of Harlow Youth Council sold refreshments.

The event was organised by Harlow Council with support from Essex County Council's youth service and funded by the youth transition fund and Active Essex.

Harlow councillor Emma Toal, portfolio holder for youth and community, said: "The Urban Games is always a really popular event and this year was no exception."

"There were some really fantastic displays of skill on show across all the events for everyone to enjoy, and it was great to see so many young people getting involved and using the town's fantastic skatepark."

"I'd just like to say congratulations to all the competition winners and thanks to the organisers for putting on another excellent event."

Shared Care

Can You make a difference?

By providing part-time care for a child or young person with a disability...

What difference does shared care make?

Shared care provides very important support to children with a disability & their families who benefit in a range of ways. Take for instance... Anna & Mark, who have three children under the age of eight. Their eldest child Ben has a rare genetic condition which means he requires constant care and supervision. Ben goes to spend the day with his shared care family once a month. He loves going to visit them and the children in his shared care family love spending time with Ben when he visits. Ben's parents really benefit from the break shared care gives them and the opportunity to spend quality time with their two younger children...

What is Shared Care?

Shared Care is a short break and friendship scheme for children with learning and/or physical disabilities aged 0-18 years, which provides the child/young person with a safe, stimulating and familiar environment in which they can become a more confident and independent individual, whilst at the same time allowing the child/young person's family to have a break from their caring role and responsibilities. Some children receive overnight care in the carers own home, while other children just receive day care.

What support is available?

Shared carers are a valuable & prized asset & Accuro seeks to support them accordingly. This includes providing on-going training and, where appropriate, specialist training; regular contact from a nominated & experienced shared care coordinator; the opportunity to meet & share ideas with other shared carers; etc.

How Can I Find Out More?

If you are interested in finding out more about becoming a shared carer with Accuro then please contact us.

Different types of Shared Carers

Accuro is an established registered charity that provides a range of services to support children and adults with a disability and their families.

We are currently looking to recruit Shared Carers to provide care in their home and/or out in the community.

Accuro recruits both volunteer & fee paid carers. Volunteer carers receive reimbursement of expenses, may provide day care or overnight stays & are expected to contribute a minimum of 6 hours per month.

Fee paid carers receive a fee per night that reflects the level of need of the child they care for & are expected to provide a minimum of 18 nights care per year, which may be provide individually or in short blocks.

"I have come to Accuro as I feel they can offer the support and communication that I recognise I need when I am working. I have been incredibly impressed by the support, professionalism and timely fashion that we have been cared for as a family on our journey to become Shared Carers" – Leigh – Shared Carer since July 2014.

Sea-themed activities are shore-fire hit with kids

YOUNGSTERS in Harlow enjoyed a day at the sea on Saturday in the latest of the Harvey Centre's summer holiday activities.

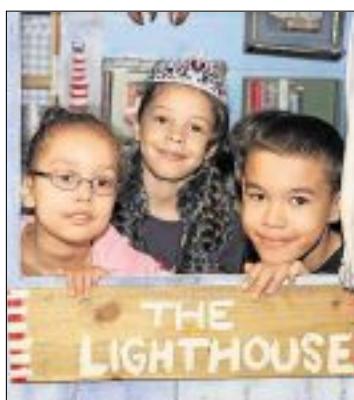

There was a chance to explore a lighthouse keeper's cabin, watch animated films about the sea and even make a model lighthouse.

Centre manager Bryan Young said: "Our younger visitors and their families are very important to us so we have put on a number of free events during the summer holidays.

"Children could get hands-on in our seaside-themed craft event, step inside our very own lighthouse and even meet the lighthouse keeper.

"There'll be lots more events and activities coming up."

Youngsters could also have their faces painted and take part in seaside craft workshops as part of the Kids' Club event.

1994 Celebrating twenty years in business... 1994

We are expanding the business and moving into a larger office - just next door!

Why not pop in for a chat.

GUARDIAN Residential Lettings & Sales LLP

CELEBRATING 20 years in business, Guardian Residential Lettings & Sales in Harlow is marking the occasion by hosting a street party in the town's Market Square.

Based at 18 & 19 Adams House in Harlow, Guardian is one of the best in the business when it comes to Harlow's lettings market and its success continues to spread across a wider area as it now has properties in towns such as Sawbridgeworth, Bishops Stortford and Epping.

To mark its two decades of trading since it launched back in 1994, Guardian's street party takes place this Saturday, on August 23 between 10am and 2pm. Admission is free and there will be plenty of fun for all the family with a range of amusements to suit everyone. Come along and enjoy the music, have a go on the bouncy castle, or enjoy some popcorn or candy floss. There will also be a raffle with some great prizes, a cupcake stand, sweets and juice, as well as a competition to guess the number of balloons in a car. The highlight of the day will surely be the stocks, where members of the public can pelt Guardian lettings agents with sponges! There will be a small charge for the amusements and all money raised will go to their chosen charity; The Princess Alexandra Hospital's Neonatal Intensive Care Unit.

Guardian's experienced team pride themselves on their honest, reliable approach and will always take the time to listen to their customers' needs and objectives, to ensure the highest standards of service. They are very knowledgeable about the local property and lettings market. For further details contact them on (01279) 635685.

Bands warm up for free festival

THE combination of live music and sunshine made for the perfect Saturday as organisers of this weekend's LinkFest in Harlow Town Park held a warm-up show in the market square.

The event featured performances by a number of local bands, giving people planning to attend Saturday and Sunday's shows a taste of what they can expect.

LinkFest organiser Jamie Pring said: "It went really well and I was pleased with the turnout. Lots of people were coming up to ask for flyers and find out more about Linkfest as they listened to the music."

"The awareness for LinkFest has been fantastic as a result and it was nice to see people sitting listening to the bands and enjoying the sun."

He added: "We wanted to look at a different way to get publicity for LinkFest and a mini-gig in the town worked for us.

"We have had a lot of support from the GPCA. Without their backing LinkFest would not go ahead so we're very grateful to them."

LinkFest, which is free, kicks off on Saturday at 12.45pm. The line-up for the first day includes Gridfever, The Albino Peaches, The Greasy Slicks, Jelly, Crimson Ties, Rock School, Scooby, Dawgish and Lipstick Torpedo.

The music continues at 1.45pm on Sunday with Steve Forward, Portland Avenue, Me & Him, Anthem, Archive and Sax on Fire.

There's something deeply satisfying about a good gig

As comedian Omid Djalili prepares to bring his latest live show Iranalamadingdong to Harlow Playhouse next month, James Rampton asks him: Are you happy with where your career is?

BRITISH-born Iranian comic and actor Omid Djalili's legendary performances on stage and screen have won him plaudits the world over. Now, following on from his hugely successful spring tour of Omid Djalili Live, the comedian is back with his new tour Iranalamadingdong.

"I've done lots of different things and enjoyed them but stand-up, when it goes well - and it often doesn't - is definitely a love," he said. "There's something deeply satisfying about a good gig. I'm not often happy with myself as an actor."

"I get upset when I see myself acting on screen, mostly because of the way I look. But as a stand-up it's always a bonus if you look heavy or awkward or damaged... in my case it helps in fact."

Does he feel very much at home in the stand-up arena?

"When I was working on Moonfleet last summer, Ray Winstone told me 'I don't feel I come alive on set until I've done a fight scene and thrown my first right hook'.

"Similarly, I don't really feel I've come to life unless I've triggered laughter from a crowd."

"It's probably an illness, a comedian's illness, but I don't panic like I used to. If a joke misses or backfires I know there's a hundred more on their way."

"But it's strange. I'm getting more serious off stage and savour even more the times when I'm on it. There's always something in my mind telling me to enjoy it while I can, because it isn't going to last much longer."

So is the relationship with the audience important?

"Most comedians are sensitive to audience reaction," he replied. "Generally speaking, comics like people. Stand-up is basically one person talking to many people, it's a bizarre dynamic. Public speaking has been with us for thousands of years. I remember even feeling a panic when I was younger that I should get up and speak because I'd have to one day so best start young."

"If you're not too nervous about speaking and saying what's on your mind in a one-on-one then that openness is what you need on stage."

"It's important not to be too hung up about what people think of you. Finding a comedy voice can take years though."

The new show sees Omid discuss

overcoming his fears,

relationships,

the perils of celebrity

and getting older.

"We all struggle with growing older.

As Dave Allen once said 'I enjoy getting older; I have to because there's no choice'.

When you hit your forties you understand life better but at the same time your body is more prone to fail. So you have to find a way of joining your received wisdom with physical prowess.

"A lot of men who hit 40 try to do things that make them feel more alive

because they want to prove themselves.

That's

why I did Splash! I wanted to do something out of the box, stretch my courage and prove I was still a young man at heart, even though my bits were dropping off."

So what else will he be discussing?

"Relationships. I think I've maybe come to understand the secret to them now. I know when a woman gets married she has to learn to forgive her man from day one because men are idiots. Before they become conscious human beings, that is."

"They can take years doing the wrong thing before they learn to adjust their behaviour. So women need patience and forgiveness... and a voice to articulate what the man is doing that is wrong in a way a man can hear

Otherwise it's over."

Is there such a thing as an archetypal comedian's mentality?

"Not really, but most comedians I know do have a filter missing. They usually go for the gag, even if it's at the expense of total social humiliation, but they still do it because they know it'll be great story they can tell later or even use on stage. It's almost as if comics need to be loved and talked about more than being respected."

So is he happy with life?

"Well, I think in life you have to count your blessings otherwise you'll never be happy. But I haven't worked out the reason why I'm overweight yet and I really shouldn't be.

"It's an issue that takes precedence so forgive me for not really answering your question."

It's time to ditch the holiday blues

GARDENERS who went on holiday confident that friends and family would water, deadhead and harvest their crops in their absence must be feeling pretty smug.

But what about those of us who didn't have the luxury of a mate to water the garden while we were sunning ourselves elsewhere? What about those who just didn't find time to install an automatic irrigation system? Well, you now have to look at the mess that remains and consider what's worth saving and what isn't.

Annual bedding plants in containers and baskets are unlikely to recover fully if the weather's been scorching and they've been left in the sun, so it might be a case of taking an executive decision, tipping them out and starting again.

Plants such as lobelia and soft, fleshy plants including fuchsias and tomatoes are much less likely to survive than drought-tolerant plants such as pelargoniums.

You may find a few bargains of late summer blooms in your local garden centre to brighten up the scene but if you're on a budget it's probably better to invest in some spring bulbs for planting, or get a head start on autumn and winter planting designs.

If you're not going to use your containers for winter displays, clean them out, wipe them down and put them away. Don't leave terracotta pots out for pests like slugs and snails to hide under. If you leave them out too long, they'll just crack when the frost comes.

By Hannah Stephenson

Containers holding year-round-interest plants such as shrubs or evergreens may benefit from being submerged in a bucket of water to re-wet the compost, but it is difficult to tell if the compost is thoroughly soaked and it is important not to waterlog the plants.

After re-wetting, robust architectural plants such as phormiums and box can be lifted out of their containers with their root system intact so you can see if the compost has been completely soaked through.

Clematis in containers are more likely to survive a week without watering if they are in big pots and have other plants around them. After a week with no water, the clematis will look pretty sorry for itself and new growth is likely to have shrivelled up. Give it a good soak, trim it down to around 18in and give it a feed with tomato or rose food and it should come back and may even flower again in October.

Border perennials and shrubs are much more likely to survive your absence, but if you have overgrown weeds on your return, pick them out to stop them shedding seeds which will cause you problems later. Deadhead all your border plants and give them a good water and they should recover.

Continue to deadhead roses and cut back finished summer-flowering perennials, removing supports which propped up the plants which have stopped flowering. These can be cleaned with a mild detergent and put away until next year.

If no-one has picked your crops, you are likely to come home to a large amount of stringy, tough runner beans which will need to be put on the compost heap, and the plants will probably have stopped flowering. Pick all the beans off the plants, give them a feed with a tomato feed and they may start producing again.

Dig up other vegetable plants which have succumbed to the prolonged hot weather, clearing vacant rows and refilling them with autumn and winter crops as soon as you can.

Some gardeners can become more relaxed about pest and disease control once they've had their two weeks holiday but ignore them at your peril - you may be storing up problems that will remain dormant until next year. Cut off or prune out affected parts of diseased plants and burn or dispose of them so that overwintering spores won't survive.

Pest control is also important. Be aware that many biological controls become less reliable when the temperature drops as the predatory insects which provide the control then multiply more slowly. Take off shoots on plants which are infested with greenfly or blackfly and dispose of them.

LUCY

certificate 15A 1h29m

Bum-numbingly long films may be all the rage but at a lean hour-and-a-half, this new action thriller from Luc Besson is all the better for bucking the Hollywood trend.

And with a kidnapping, killing sprees and questionable drugs thrown into the fray, there's certainly enough in those 90 minutes to stop you from slipping out of the cinema.

Lucy (Scarlett Johansson), a carefree student living in Taiwan, is tricked by her new boyfriend Richard (Pilou Asbaek) into doing his dirty work and carrying a briefcase jam-packed with potent new drugs into a hotel for him.

But before the concierge has greeted Lucy, Richard has been dispatched and Lucy is held hostage by the neighbourhood's merciless mob of local drug lords headed up by the unsparing Mr Jang (Choi Min-sik).

Waking up, Lucy discovers that the mob has taken the liberty of surgically implanting into her stomach thousands of pounds worth of a deadly blue drug, which increases the user's brain capacity. More than that, if the bright blue crystals leak they will kill her.

But leak it does and Lucy, who is sent across the world as a drug mule, soon finds her brain working on disturbing new levels, signposted in the film with frequent updates on the percentage of brain capacity she's using.

As well as being hell-bent on exacting revenge on the mobsters, Lucy also busies herself by tracking down eminent professor Samuel Norman (Morgan Freeman) in Paris who has spent decades researching the brain's potential.

Much has been made of the film's neurological theory not stacking up, but scientific soundness isn't the mission here. It's all about entertainment.

And while there are some rather odd moments - the flashes to a prehistoric Lucy, the strained conversation she has with her mum and the missed opportunity to kill Mr Jang while she can - Lucy is nevertheless a punchy film which demands your attention every minute of the way.

SIN CITY 2: A DAME TO KILL FOR

certificate 18 1h42m

Crime pays handsomely in Robert Rodriguez and Frank Miller's visually arresting sequel to the 2005 neo-noir anthology, once again based on Miller's series of Sin City comics.

Veteran police detective John Hartigan (Bruce Willis) and exotic dancer Nancy Callahan (Jessica Alba) reunite after the blood-spattered exploits of the first film.

However, fate has other ideas for the couple and scheming Senator Roark (Powers Boothe) pushes John to the brink of self-destruction. Nancy vows revenge and joins force with friend and protector Marv (Mickey Rourke) to make the politician suffer.

And they aren't the only ones hungry for Roark's blood - cocksure gambler Johnny (Joseph Gordon-Levitt) takes a wrong man at poker. Scarred for life, Johnny embarks on a suicidal revenge mission but a sassy stripper called Marcie (Julia Garner) catches his eye.

Meanwhile, Dwight McCarthy (Josh Brolin) struggles to keep his violent impulses in check and his volatile emotions boil over when old flame Ava Lord (Eva Green) seeks him out and begs Dwight to help her escape the clutches of her sadistic new husband Damien Lord (Marton Csokas) and his hulking bodyguard Manute (Dennis Haysbert). Rosario Dawson, Stacy Keach, Jaime King, Ray Liotta and Jeremy Piven co-star.

feature homes

Tracey Waples Property Editor

WHEN I'm reading through property details for this paper there are certain features that estate agents always seem to highlight no matter how large or small the home.

One such 'must have' item is the en-suite bathroom. Although the average three-bedroom house in the UK has just one bathroom and one WC, almost 80 per cent of new-build homes have two or more bathrooms these days – and our love for them doesn't seem to be fading.

When you consider you can increase the value of an average family home by up to 10 per cent if you add an extra bathroom, it would make sense to turn that yearning for a walk-in shower or luxury en-suite with roll top bath into a reality.

However, a badly planned en-suite can have a negative impact on the value of a property. Most en-suites are created by carving out space from another bedroom, but bedrooms tend to be more valuable than bathrooms. So if you're thinking about installing your own en-suite, there are a few things you need to consider.

Firstly, don't take so much space out of a bedroom that it becomes small and poky – it will be counter productive. And in a smaller house, don't sacrifice an entire bedroom for one.

You will need to make sure that your boiler is up to the job of running another bathroom. If it's not, it can add considerably to the cost.

You can spend as much as you like on fittings and fixtures, but budget for at least £4,000 for a compact, two metre by two metre en-suite and up to £10,000 for a larger, more luxurious one.

Debbie's Comment

A Problem Tenant?

According to the Department of the Environment about half of all landlords have had cause to ask a tenant to leave on at least one occasion, usually because of arrears, noise, damage, violence, or abusive behaviour.

Around thirty percent of these end up having to go to court.

When you let your property, you hope that your tenant will turn out to be the model house guest and provide a hassle-free long-term return on your profitable investment. Our experience is that in many cases this does indeed turn out to be the case, but we do hear of many cases where fears have quickly followed a hopeful start. This is often where a landlord has found the tenant privately or used a cut-price "tenant-find only" service, rather than a fully managed service that can route out problems before they escalate into crises.

We hope that you have great tenants, but if you are having problems with the following, it might be worth calling us for a chat:

Your tenant won't move out after their tenancy has expired.

Your tenant has stopped paying you rent.

Your tenant has left owing you money and you want to trace them.

You need to call on a guarantee.

You can't gain access to the property to do an inspection.

You don't have the time to do an inspection.

You need someone to deal with a tenant changeover.

You want to issue a Section 8 or Section 21 against a tenant.

You want to start court proceedings against a tenant.

You need to appoint court bailiffs to evict a tenant who has ignored a court agreed leaving date.

You have squatters and need them urgently evicted.

Some of the above sound horrendous, yet they really can all be avoided most of the time when you work with a committed professional who specialises in finding and managing fantastic tenants.

If I can help and you feel that a fully managed service would be for you do give me a call or why not pop in for an informal chat.

THINK! IS YOUR VEHICLE READY FOR SUMMER?

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF). Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Call Adrian or Mark on 01707 391333

Canaan attending camp run by Olympic finalist's coach

HARLOW'S Canaan Solomon has again been invited to attend a middle distance workshop run by the coach of Olympic Games 2012 800m finalist Andrew Osagie.

The highly-rated 15-year-old Mark Hall student, pictured right, has already attended one camp run by Craig Winrow at the state-of-the-art athletics facilities at St Mary's University in Twickenham, South West London.

At the weekend, Solomon scooped an excellent bronze medal in the U-17 men's 800m at the South of England Championships at Crystal Palace, despite being a bottom year athlete.

On the Saturday he qualified with ease running two minutes and seven seconds.

The next day in the final there was a reluctance on the first lap for anyone to force the pace as the field went through in 60 seconds.

On the back straight three athletes broke clear, including Solomon.

As the three athletes came towards the finish, the Harlow runner just got squeezed out by Feysei Nadew, from Herne Hill, who got bronze for this event at English Schools.

The winning time was 1:56.3 as opposed to Solomon's time of 1:56.8.

Meanwhile, three Burnt Mill students performed with distinction in an Eastern Young Athletes meet at Bedford.

Owen Armstrong (15) was awarded man of match by his club Woodford Green after a solid all round display in the U-17 boys' age group.

After setting new personal bests (PBs) recently for 800m (2 mins 10 secs) and 1,500m (4 mins 33 secs), Armstrong was fourth in the long jump with 5.22m, another PB.

He was fourth in the 400m in 59.4s, and ran the 800m, coming fifth in 2 mins 15 secs and was part of the U-17 boys' relay team that placed third.

Kyesha Robinson (13) scored an excellent win over 300m in a PB of 44.00, which ranks her 10th for U-15 girls in the East region.

Hayden Maleary (12) also set a PB for 1,500m with 5:08.1, placing fourth among the U-13 boys. At the Lee Valley Athletics Centre, 14-year-old Brandon Schibchurn set a PB for 200m of 24.02s when winning a mixed race. This ranks him ninth in the East region for U-15 boys.

● Harlow Running Club member Daniel Jephcott completed the Gunpowder Parkrun 5K in Waltham Abbey, finishing in sixth place out of 101 finishers and second U-20 in an excellent 20.23.

He was followed home by Colin Moody, 28th and first Vet 60, in 23.33, Brendon Maclean, 40th in his debut at the distance, in 25.20, Andy Kinney (45th, 26.12), Holly Nairn (70th, 28.56) and Laura Seaward (81st, 31.32).

At the St Albans Parkrun 5K, Richard Solomons finished in 58th place out of 314 finishers and was first Vet 65 in a superb time of 20.48.

At the Lanhydrock Parkrun 5K in Bodmin Cornwall, Julia Gardiner was 36th out of 170 finishers and was first lady Vet 35 in 23.53.

Michelle Aitken finished in 53.49 at the Greenwich Park 10k.

TO THE FORE: Adam O'Connor receives the Canons Brook Golf Club Championship trophy from club captain Alan Grant. (s)

O'Connor claims Canons Brook Championship

ADAM O'Connor was crowned champion at Harlow's Canons Brook Golf Club, after triumphing in the 2014 annual competition.

Played over 36 holes, O'Connor won the championship by just one stroke from runner-up Jim Soilleux.

In a dramatic finish, O'Connor had to hole a 15ft putt on the last green to avoid a play-off.

O'Connor's gross score for the 36 holes was 150 strokes (4 over par).

Meanwhile the Elizabeth Way club's Thornton Cup and Leslie Wood teams have both reached the semi-final stages of their respective competitions and will be playing Crondon Park and Boyce Hill golf clubs respectively in September for a place in the finals.

Beehan wins Nocturnal Cup

STORT Valley Angling Society's annual night match "The Nocturnal Cup" took place at Weeley Lakes near Clacton.

The changeable weather patterns seemed to affect the fishing, but club captain Bill Beehan netted carp to 15lbs for a winning bag of 37lbs 2ozs.

The local River Stort was the venue for this year's Stort Cup.

Seventeen anglers weighed in 46lbs 14ozs, although, sadly, none of the river's bigger inhabitants showed.

Long-serving club member Brian Walker landed 6lbs 1oz of silver fish to lift the trophy, followed in second place by Graham Taylor on 4lbs 4ozs, just 3ozs ahead of Steve South who was third.

The Warren fishery in Stanford-le-Hope was visited by the Harlow-based Society for their latest outing.

Steve Bass won with bream and tench for a weight of 12lbs 4ozs whilst Alan Heywood netted 11lbs 2ozs to be runner-up.

Mick Westby also got on to the podium with 7lbs 4ozs.

Triumph for Tom

HARLOW Tennis Club member Tom Foxon triumphed in an Essex county tournament at Colchester Leisure.

Foxon won two matches before defeating number one seed James Benjamin, a much higher rated player, in the semi-final.

He won in three sets, winning the tie break 10-6.

In the final Foxon played in cooler conditions but again triumphed in three sets, winning the tie break 10-1.

In his second match he had beaten the number four seed Liam Holmes, again in three sets, winning the tie break 14-12.

Harlow men's third team drew 2-2 with Cranston Park III in an Essex League division five home match.

CLASS: Pat Yates, right, took three brilliant stumpings for Harlow Town (s)

Yates took the decision to stand up to his bowling.

Yates took two great leg side stumpings to remove Soomro for 21 and Barber for six. He picked up a third stumping as Old Brentwoods slumped to 110-9 with 16 overs left.

The visitors' last wicket took the score to 177 and Town completed their win when Farmer took a catch off Upadhyay's bowling.

Harlow Town's third XI maintained their promotion push with a six-wicket win over Brentwood IV.

Brentwood batted first and were bowled out for 93. Vic Goddard claimed 4-11 and, in reply, Johan Cloete (43 not out) and Vinesh Patel (28) helped Harlow (94-4) win.

Harlow Town IV (149-6; Lee Richardson 54) lost by four wickets against Hainault and Clayhall V (151-6; Paul Smith 3-56) by four wickets.

With captain Ashley Alderson in with 25 not out as Town totalled 235-6 off their 52 overs.

In reply, the visitors lost three early wickets. Town remained on top for long periods as wickets fell regularly and their dominance was rammed home by top class wicket-keeping from Yates.

With captain Ashley Alderson bowling his fast medium swingers,

Harlow embarrassed by loss to league's basement team

HARLOW cannot afford to relax in their last three games after they slipped to a bad defeat at basement side Ardleigh Green.

Saturday's setback leaves Harlow in sixth spot, just 21 points ahead of the ninth-placed side with three matches left.

Two sides are set to be relegated from the 10-team division.

Town batted first and the main partnership in their innings was between John Perry (49) and Rehman Ahmed (63), who added 81 for the second wicket.

Anthony Webb chipped in with 38 and Nick Baxter made 24 not out as Harlow declared on 197-9.

Harlow (197-9 dec) lost to Ardleigh Green (201-1) by 9 wks (Shepherd Neame Essex League, division one)

In reply, the hosts lost just one wicket with Chris Cook making 100 not out and Webb took 1-33.

A high scoring game saw top batting from Surath Bastola (100) and Alan Jones (133) as Harlow II (300-8) drew with Hornchurch II (306-6).

Harlow III (161-6) defeated Southend-on-Sea IV (158) by four wickets and Harlow IV (170-7) beat Hornchurch-on-The-Hill (166) by three wickets.

Plenty of hope for future as ladies shine in final meet

THE final Southern Women's Athletics League match at Wimbledon concluded the summer team programme for Harlow AC.

Harlow were third in the match and maintained their 59-point advantage over Dorking and Mole Valley to guarantee third place overall in the final standings.

Several regular members were missing but the team was bolstered by the return of some U-17 athletes.

The holiday season took its toll on the U-15 turnout with only three athletes available. Fortunately for Harlow, other teams were similarly affected.

For the U-15s there was an impressive debut for Anna Clatworthy who jumped 1.31m in the high jump, ran 15.2 seconds in the 75m hurdles and claimed second spot in the U-15 100m A race.

Katie Champion picked up three third place finishes in the A long jump, 200m and 800m respectively.

Louise Owen was second in the B 200m race, third in the A javelin and fourth in the shot put. The latter two events were particularly noteworthy as she is an U-13 throwing heavier implements.

In the senior competition Eleanor Moss was first in the javelin, throwing more than 30m several times in a good series of throws.

Amy Hunt secured three third place finishes and Erynn Madsen two seconds and a third, both making their first appearances since their exams.

Rachel Kyobe, Ellie Williams, Hannah and Annabel Owen all performed solidly and showed the same wholehearted commitment they have shown all season.

They were ably supported by Bridgett Owen and Isobel Moss who were willing to take on the endurance events and fill in wherever possible.

Harlow women's team manager, Steve Lott, said: "Over the season there have been some very good performances but there hasn't been consistency in the team.

"So I'm particularly grateful to the Owen family, Rachel [Kyobe] and Ellie [Williams] who have been ever present.

"With everybody fit and available we could be challenging for promotion to the premier division.

"For now we must be satisfied with a strong third place and will just have to think how we go about encouraging more commitment to the team over the winter in readiness for next season.

"We do have the talent within the club to match bigger clubs such as Hercules and Haywards Heath."

Match result: Hercules Wimbledon AC 263.5, Haywards Heath Harriers 215, Harlow AC 178, Paddock Wood AC 148.5, Chiltern Harriers 129, Dorking & Mole Valley 120, Swale Combined AC 30.

World champs' ping pong ding dong at BATTs club

TWO former world table tennis champions attended the BATTs club in Old Harlow to coach the sport's future stars.

With England doing so well at the Commonwealth Games – winning gold, silver and bronze in the mixed doubles, the sport is showing a resurgence.

BATTs, based at the Norman Booth Leisure Centre in Elderfield, is one of the top table tennis clubs in the country, regularly hosting British Superleague matches.

Jan-Ove Waldner and Jorgen Persson put BATTs players through their paces, and even took on the club's talented youngsters in good-natured matches.

The two ping-pong legends also staged exhibition matches.

Swede Waldner was Olympic champion in Barcelona in 1992 and world champion in 1989 and 1997.

TOP STARS: Jorgen Persson, top, and Jan-Ove Waldner feature in an exhibition match at BATTs (Pic: Steve Weemes)

Fellow Swede Persson was world champion in 1991 and European champion in 1986.

BATTs spokesman Graham Frankel said: "After lunch the huge crowd of juniors, parents and other spectators were treated to an amazing exhibition match between the two stars.

"Spectacular rallies, the like of which had never been witnessed at our club, were greeted with rapturous applause.

"And then the stars continued into the afternoon, taking on challenges from those brave enough to try.

"The two Swedish stars did more than share their skills.

"They were wonderful ambassadors for the sport, chatting with all the juniors and the other visitors.

"The youngsters they were helping had not been born when these celebrities won their world singles titles, but by the end of the afternoon no-one was in any doubt that they had been in the presence of two of the greatest figures in the history of table tennis.

"What a privilege for us all."

Among the talented youngsters who are members of the club is Ethan Walsh.

He has represented England many times and is currently the number one U-13 in England.

Since the age of nine, Ethan has been picked to train at Lilleshall National Sports Centre every month with the England U-15 squad.

He was picked to play for England in the schools (Six Nations) in Scotland when he was 10. He managed to win a gold and a bronze medal in this event.

The following year when he was 11 he got picked again to represent England for the schools (Six Nations) and again he picked up a gold and a bronze medal.

Last year Ethan got picked for the U-12 Masters in England and he came second, gaining a silver medal.

Ethan is a double England national champion, winning the U-11 nationals last year and the U-12 nationals this year.

Golfer Gabriella to take on the world

GOLFER Gabriella Cowley has been selected to represent England in the Women's World Amateur Team Championship for the Espírito Santo trophy at Karuizawa Golf Club, Japan, next month.

The 18-year-old, of Threshers Barn near Churchgate Street, will take plenty of recent big tournament experience to Japan for the event, which runs from September 3 to 6.

Cowley, a member of Hanbury Manor Golf Club in Ware, represented GB and Ireland in the 2014 Curtis Cup in the United States in June.

The 72-hole championship will be played over the Oshitate and Iriyama courses and is hosted by the Japan Golf Association.

The two lowest scores from each round count towards each country's team's total.

The championship, which began in 1964, was last played in 2012 in Antalya, Turkey, when the Republic of Korea became the first country in 22 years to capture consecutive titles.

Alongside Cowley in the English team is English women's stroke play champion Hayley Davis, 21, and Bronte Law, 19, who won this year's English Women's Amateur Championship.

Small goal but Smith injury is a big blow

Brentwood Town .....	1
Harlow Town .....	2

(Ryman League, division one north)

HARLOW Town's joy at beating Brentwood Town on Tuesday was tempered by the knee injury sustained by midfielder George Smith.

Smith went off in the 14th minute of the clash and was replaced by Shane Stamp.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "He went to hospital afterwards and it could be a cartilage injury.

"He is going for a scan in the next two days."

He added: "I was looking to bring in a player before this happened to George as we are a bit short at the moment.

"I might be bringing in one or two players but it will not be before Saturday."

Chapman confirmed he would not be bringing players in on loan deals.

He said: "If I bring in players it will be done on a permanent basis."

Harlow were given the ideal start at Brentwood as they went ahead in only the first minute.

Talismanic striker Alex Read latched on to a ball to lob the home goalkeeper Ollie Bowles from 20 yards.

Brentwood had a late first half penalty claim turned down when Alex Akrofi was clattered by Harlowkeeper Edward Thompson after beating him to the ball.

Despite strong shouts no spot kick was awarded.

Bentwood started the second half well and equalised on 66 minutes.

A well-worked move ended with unmarked substitute Robbie Rees stroking the ball into the net.

However, Harlow regained the lead seven minutes later.

A ball from the left by Stamp fizzed across goal and recent signing Jared Small converted from a couple of yards out.

Harlow made sure they held on to the lead and they now have 10 points from the first four games and are in second spot.

Chapman said: "It was a good win and it was a very scrappy game.

"I feel there is a lot more to come from us as we have so far only played really well in the first 25 minutes of the first game against Romford."

Chapman confirmed that aside from Smith there are no other injury worries.

Harlow are set to face Baldock Town away in the preliminary round of the FA Cup over the weekend of August 29-31.

Baldock groundshare with Hitchin Town and Hitchin have a home league game on Saturday August 30.

No date has yet been arranged for Harlow's tie.

Hawks bounce back to draw against Tilbury in bad-tempered match

THERE was no lack of incident with four red cards as Harlow Town came from two goals down to draw 2-2 against Tilbury at home in Ryman League division one north.

The visitors went ahead on the half hour mark of Saturday's clash when Sam West tucked home from a goalmouth scramble.

Ed Thompson doubled the visitors' advantage just before the break.

Harlow had Michael Toner sent off in the 58th minute after he allegedly stamped on Tilbury's Henry Cook.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "I had no complaints about the decision."

The hosts halved the deficit in the 77th minute when a miscued shot from Alex Read found new signing Jared Small in space to shoot home.

A lifeline was thrown to Harlow in the 89th minute when a Dave Cowley shot was handled and Read then converted the penalty.

Tempers then flared as Harlow tried to retrieve the ball as they were desperate to try to get play resumed as quickly as possible.

It resulted in a second yellow card for Hawks captain James Smith and a straight red card for Tilbury captain Aaron Waters.

Chapman said: "It was embarrassing by the ref."

"It was handbags and the ref should have spoken to both players and told them to get on with the game."

He added: "We cannot appeal as it was two yellow cards."

The drama was not over yet as a bad challenge on Read resulted in a second yellow card for Jake Pooley.

Chapman felt his team played poorly, but praised their resilience.

He said: "We did well to come back after being 2-0 down and showed character in doing so."

"It is a positive as it is a sign of a good team to go and grab points when you do not play well."

"We will now have both Michael Toner and James Smith out for the FA Cup game against Baldock."
